

BIG GAME OF SOUTHERN FOOTBALL SEASON TOMORROW

Georgetown Ready for Virginians

Eleven in Best Condition—Student Mass Meetings.

Light signal practice is the program at Georgetown today.

A little scrimmage work was indulged in by the men yesterday, and the squad sent in to the dressing room at 3 o'clock with implicit instructions to retire early and rest as much as possible the remaining time before the Virginia game. The condition of the team far surpasses that of any other time this season, and students and players are confident Georgetown's showing tomorrow will be in accord with this.

Every Glenn and Bunney Larkin were on hand again yesterday, and the results of their earnest efforts this week will doubtless be noticeable tomorrow. The law students held their mass meeting last night, and unbounded enthusiasm prevails in the downtown department.

The college men will meet in Gaston Hall tonight for their final instructions. The advance sale of reserve seats has been larger than any previous season, both in Washington and Charlottesville. Harry Devine's appearance on the field in a suit yesterday has given rise to the rumor that the fast halfback will be seen in tomorrow's game.

Following will be the Georgetown line-up:

Officials—Referee, Alcott, of Yale; umpire, "Bronco" Armstrong, of Yale; head linesman, Jack Gass, of Lehigh.

SOUTHERNERS ARE COMING 600 STRONG

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA, Nov. 15.—The last practice before the big game was held yesterday afternoon. The cheering squad and the "hoo-dum band," the predecessors of the Stonewall band, filled the bleachers and saw Coach Johnson put the finishing touches on the men who will meet Georgetown.

Johnson declines to make any further statement of the game than that the men are in the best of condition and each one will do his best. It is generally conceded that it will be a hard fight, but the men here will back the team to a finish and carry a big roll to hold down their side of the betting in Washington.

Practice was light yesterday. Signal work mostly and a light scrimmage for the line men and substitute backs. Yancey is showing up in line shape at fullback.

The team leaves at 4 o'clock this afternoon, arriving in Washington at 8:30 p. m. The rosters will follow Saturday morning early on their special train. They expect to be 600 strong, and with their band will make the Capitol City echo with songs of old Virginia.

Manager Woods will carry a squad of thirty, and among them Hume, Cecil, Kellock, Dorman, Cosby, Bird, Murphy, and Caldwell, all of whom have seen actual service this fall.

NEW FENCERS APPEAR IN LOCAL FIELD

Washington Should Send Strong Team to New York in April.

The disbandment of the Washington Fencers' Club last spring did not result in the abandonment of the sport by Washington fencers, and it is expected that this city will, as usual, be represented in the annual United States championship tournament held in New York city next April.

The majority of the members of the old club are continuing active work at the former headquarters of the organization, 1517 H street, where is now conducted a gymnasium by Prof. F. Darrieulat. The professor is himself an accomplished fencer, having taught the art in this country for over fifteen years, coming here from Paris. In his stay in this city he has numbered among his pupils President Roosevelt, Sir Julian Pauncefote, Count Cassini, and Gen. Leonard Wood. Many of his pupils have brought home trophies won in company with the leading athletic organizations of the country, and his gymnasium is at the present time the rendezvous for most of the crack fencers of this city.

Saturday night exhibitions are being given at the H street gym, and they are attracting much attention. The first preliminary to the final competition to be held in February, which will determine the trio to represent Washington in the national championship.

Among those who are practicing regularly and have excellent chances to make the team are: Dr. Scott D. Brockbridge, the winner of the national championship, in 1906; Vicomte de Chambrun, secretary to the French ambassador; and L. A. Micheloni, recognized champion of South America, who is now making his home in Washington, and is, therefore, eligible to represent this city in competition.

Vicomte de Chambrun learned the art in the French fencing schools, and won fame in competition in Paris before coming to America. Since coming to Washington he has continued active work, and hopes to enter the New York tourney in the spring.

One of the most promising fencers who has come to this city for some time, according to Prof. Darrieulat is Beroglio, who is recognized as one of the best amateurs in Europe. He has appeared in matches in London, Paris, and Brussels, and has met some of the foremost fencers on the Continent. The fact that he is entered with Mr. Micheloni and Vicomte de Chambrun in next Saturday night's exhibition shows the standing he has already attained among Washington devotees of fencing.

M. Parro, of Peru, and M. Lager, of Haiti, are two newcomers, who are practicing regularly, and A. H. Semmes, a Washingtonian, who is the veteran of the local fencers, is also in the game this winter.

One of the most promising of the new men, according to Prof. Darrieulat, is William P. Millberger, a student at Georgetown University, who has developed wonderful agility, and this, coupled with his long reach, makes him a formidable opponent.

It is doubtful whether the Fencers' Club will be reorganized this winter. The professor is maintaining a gymnasium during the summer months was found to be too great, and since Prof. Darrieulat's gymnasium affords the facilities of a club most of the members of the organization are making that their headquarters. The Saturday night exhibitions are being held regularly at 8 o'clock, and will be continued until a team is picked for the New York championship competition.

ARMY LOSES PULLEN: OUT WITH HURT KNEE

WEST POINT, Nov. 15.—Pullen injured his right knee so badly in yesterday's practice that he will be unable to play again this season. He is in the hospital. An old injury to his left knee kept him out of the game most of this season, but with it properly braced it was thought he would be able to play from now on.

Fowler went in at tackle in Pullen's place, and Bowen relieved Erwin, who remained on the side lines. The back field is still the important question.

CROSS-COUNTRY RUN MAKES HIT WITH ATHLETES

Entries From Forts Should Be Big Factor.

The plans are nearly matured for the cross-country run to be given on Christmas Day by George Washington University.

The race is to start at 10:30 a. m., in order that spectators and competitors alike may be able to enjoy their turkey dinners without discomfort.

A large and fast entry list is confidently expected. The artillerymen down the river at Forts Hunt and Washington are becoming interested, as are the troops at Fort Myer and the Marine Barracks. With entries from these posts, the race will take on a significance which is self evident, for the keenest rivalry has always existed and will always exist between the various branches of Uncle Sam's boys in blue. It will make no difference to the soldiers whether they win the race or not, so long as they beat out the other service men, and more than one grueling finish will take place all down the line.

Carroll Institute, which gave so successful a cross-country, in 1905, is expected to be strongly represented, and should show up well, as her men get almost all the places in their race. The Y. M. C. A. used to hold a series of cross-country runs several years ago for its members, and there should be a lot of good material at the G street institution.

A. A. U. BREACH WITH Y. M. C. A. GROWING WIDER

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—It is now certain that the alliance between the Amateur Athletic Union and the Young Men's Christian Association will be broken.

The A. A. U. threw down the gauntlet to the Y. M. C. A. last night when a peremptory demand was made on the Central Branch of the Y. M. C. A. to return certain medals won by its members. If this is not done at once, the Central Branch of the Y. M. C. A. will be disqualified, and as the Y. M. C. A. is standing by the Central Branch in its fight with the A. A. U. it means the breaking of the alliance.

The registration committee of the Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U. held a meeting at the St. Bartholomew A. C. last night, and a resolution was passed demanding the immediate giving up of the medals without further discussion. The medals in question were won by the basketball team of the Central Branch in the local championship journey of the A. A. U. The Central Branch boys finished first. It was disclosed later, however, that two of the players were ineligible.

BENNING RACES OPEN TOMORROW; CLOSE NOV. 30

Many Pimlico Horses Will Be Seen—Bookies Numerous.

At 2 p. m. tomorrow the bugle will blow for the first race of the Benning fall meeting, and there will be racing every day until the Eastern season closes on November 30.

Six events each day are scheduled for Benning, and a good grade of horses is promised. Many of those which took part in the Pimlico fall meeting will be seen here, and the local talent will have a chance to get back some of the money it dropped in the Monumental City.

Walter Miller, the famous jockey, will not be at Benning, although he wanted to come here. He will go to the California races instead.

There will be no lack of bookmaking talent at Benning, as some of the most prominent layers of the metropolitan tracks have announced they will be on hand here and will look for soft money before hitting the trail for New Orleans or the coast. This is a bad place for snaps. Washington is said to have more shrewd "dopesters" in proportion to its population than any other city in the country.

The Keene horses have been retired and will not appear at Benning, but while this will deprive the public of the chance to see these brilliant stars, it will give the spectators a chance to figure on a race without having it already won by some Keene tag that could not be stopped with an ax.

INJURIES CAUSE SYRACUSE SHIFTS

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 15.—A complete rearrangement of the team's line-up has been made necessary by injuries to five of the regulars.

Syracuse still has to play Lafayette and West Point and for these games Wolfe, substitute half, will be played at fullback; Anderson, center, will play right half; Van Orman taking his place in the line, while the position at right end will be filled by Stimson, last year's captain. The punt will be done by Horr, Syracuse's giant right tackle, who will drop back to do the kicking.

GEORGIA SUFFERS BY PRO PLAYERS

ATLANTA, Nov. 15.—The University of Georgia was today suspended by the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association for professionalism.

The specific charge was the playing of four professional athletes in the football game against the Georgia School of Technology at Atlanta two weeks ago.

M. A. C.-ST. JOHN'S GAME FOR BLOOD

Maryland Intercollegiate Title at Stake Tomorrow.

The race for the championship of the Maryland Intercollegiate League has been narrowed down to two colleges, as both Washington and Western Maryland College have been defeated by M. A. C. St. John's College and Maryland Agricultural College still remain undefeated by any other league college. The annual contest between these two colleges will be at College Park tomorrow. This should prove one of the most exciting games played in Maryland this season, as both teams have used the forward pass and general open play with great consistency.

The old rivalry which has always existed between the two colleges is not the Farmers' only impetus, as the contemplated reunion of the alumni and ex-football players for the purpose of witnessing the game adds to the importance of the contest.

Captain Byrd, of M. A. C., who has been suffering from a bad knee, will probably not be in the line-up Saturday, but Coach Church has not overlooked this fact, consequently Mackall has been practicing at quarterback during the week, Rummig filling his position at fullback. M. A. C. will line up as follows: Tauskey, right end; Hoen, right tackle; Hicks, right guard; Ruffner, center; Lunn, left guard; Evans, left tackle; Wilson, left end; Mackall, quarterback; Cooper, left halfback; Doak, right halfback; Rummig, fullback. Substitutes, Benson and Cory, ends; Stifner, guard, and Hays, back.

Football Score By Marconigram

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 15.—Manager Smith, of the Worcester Academy football eleven, has completed arrangements with a wireless telegraph company whereby the result of next Saturday's Worcester Academy-Williston game and other college games is to be sent via the wireless stations to President Daniel Abercrombie, who is recuperating in Florence, Italy.

The game is to be played on the local gridiron. It is the first instance on record of the score of a football game going wireless to Italy.

WONDER THE WINNER.

In a match game of pool, George I. Levy, better known as Kid Wonder, defeated Walter Wallace, champion of Pennsylvania, by 29 to 15. Wonder's high run was 47, Wallace's was 15.

SPIRITED CONTEST PROMISED AT YALE

NORWALK, Conn., Nov. 15.—The Princeton football team, coaches, and trainers are here. Tomorrow morning they will go to New Haven for the annual gridiron contest with Yale.

Men who have seen many football contests say, after having witnessed Princeton's spirited practice, that Yale will meet tomorrow one of the best trained elevens that Princeton has ever sent against her blue rival.

Punting and goal kicking were practiced, in which Harlan and McCormick figured prominently. Orr, the substitute halfback, was active in the practice.
